Frequently Asked Questions

How does pet insurance work?

Unlike human health insurance, pet insurance requires you to pay your vet bill in full at time of service and then submit a claim to your policy. They will then reimburse you for the amount your plan covers.

What does pet insurance cover?

Standard pet insurance policies cover accidents and illnesses. However, some pet insurance companies also offer wellness and routine care coverage for an additional charge.

If my pet has pre-existing health conditions, will they still be covered?

Yes, the good news is that even though some pet insurance does not cover pre-existing conditions, your pet is still eligible for coverage. So any new or future health issues that your pet suffers from will be covered.
